

The Moon Story

Jin Hee Kim
7.14.03

Jin Hee Kim

I am a moon, a big moon.

Once, I was a selfish moon.

I thought I was the most beautiful thing in the world because people loved me so much.

But ever since Edison invented electric lights,
they said, "We don't need you anymore."

Edison

Edison

Edison

Edison

Edison

I was a lonely moon.
No one looked at me.
No one talked to me.
I missed people's tears, laughter and wishes.

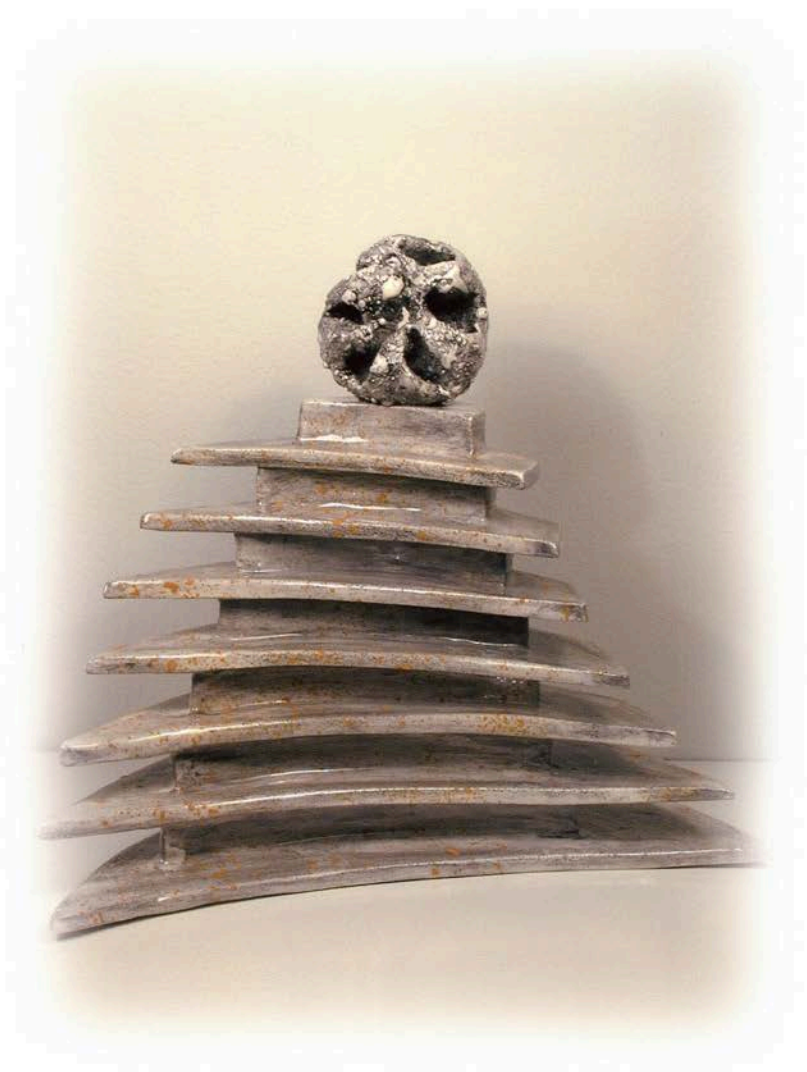

One day,
my friend Sun helped me create
a very special show for people.
One by one, little by little,
people started to look at me;
my show with my friend Sun.
They liked our show and they said,
"It's an Eclipse.
The moon is so beautiful!"

After my show people said,
"We didn't know you were in the sky
for a long time.
Where have you been?"

I said, "I was in the city for you."

I said, "I was in the countryside for you."

I said,
"I was in everywhere for you all the time.
You just didn't look upon the sky."

The people said, "Oh, We are sorry."

People now understand how important I am for them and how much I love them.

You know what?
I am a happy moon.

Limited Edition

Copyright © 2002 by Jin Hee Kim